INDUSTRY AND MECHANICS

TO BORE SQUARE HOLES.

German Invention That Will Bore Holes Square—Said to Be Mechanical Wonder.

A three-cornered drill that bores square holes and that can be used on any lathe, drill press or milling machine is one of the latest improvements in mechanical tools. This tool will have a wide field of application in wood, stone and metal working materials. The time occupied by usual methods of cutting square or angular holes is so great as to bar their use except on expensive work, but when using the new drill a square hole can be bored nearly as rapidly as boring a round hole with a twist drill.

Machine That Makes Square Holes.

With a little change of the drill, triangular holes, and holes with five, six or more sides can be bored as desired. The device for doing this work consists of a special drill, three-cornered for making square holes, and a special chuck for holding this tool which is fixed on the ordinary lathe or drill press. This chuck contains three parts that move independently of one another. First, a part that screws on and revolves with the spindle of a lathe or drill; second, a stationary part which rides on the first part, and third, a holder into which the shank of the drill is screwed. This holder is caused to rotate with the first part, but is at liberty to move sideways a certain distance in any direction. The exact motion is determined by a guide in the second part of the chuck which surrounds the shank of the drill.

The shank of the drill is three-cornered, but not exactly triangular—that is, the three sides are convex, being formed by arcs of circles struck from centers at the opposite corners. The three-cornered shank just fits into the square guide and as the shank turns around in the guide which is held stationary the three corners of the shank in turn enter into each of the four corners of the guide. At the same time the three corners of the cutting head strike on the sides of the work. The cutting edges are on the end of the tool.

LEAD-WEIGHTED GLOVES.

German Inventor Who Has Provided Something for Golfers.

A German inventor has designed a glove for golfers, the fingers of which are provided with little lead weights at the base. These weights rest just over the third knuckles of the forefingers and thumb, and it is claimed that this additional weight on the hands gives an impelling force to golf clubs which cannot be gained by making them heavier.

BASKETBALL GAMES AT THE ASSOCIATION

Last of Championship Series Occurs Tonight—Doubleheader Oneball Games This Afternoon.

Last evening at the Y. M. C. A. the Sox ran away with the Cubs in a basketball game, defeating them 51 to 11. Hemming, Wilson and G. Robertson played spectacular games for the Sox. In the second game of the championship series last night the Pirates lost to the Tigers, 37 to 14. The star players for the Tigers were Crissey and Brown. Tonight the final contest for the championship occurs when the Sox meet the Tigers.

The championship of the Madison Men's League will also be settled this evening in a game played last preceding the house championship game. "Hiss" team was victorious in the last game, but "Wicks" men have been victorious on many times that they feel confident that they will secure first honors.

The Pirates Intermediate baseball team yesterday crossed bats with the Cubs and were beaten by two points, the Cubs securing seven runs to five made by the Pirates. Murphy for the Pirates pitched very well, allowing but three runs. Had it not been for errors on the part of the players in backing up Murphy, the game would have been bagged by that alone. Ralph Tipton, captain, and E. Fifield, for the Cubs, were in evidence throughout the entire time of play. A two-bagger by Orr Laughlin brought in two runs for the Cubs.

Starting at half-past one this afternoon a doubleheader was played at Athletic Park. The Cubs met the Tigers and the Pirates clashed with the Sox.

A man was sitting on a Park row bench when his companion was overheard to say: "Do you know how they make soup in a Jersey jail?"

"No," said his companion. "Well, they put the water over a stove and let it get hot. Then they hang a leg of meat in the sun. The reflection of the sun on the meat strikes the water and makes soup."—New York Press.

CAN YOU FIND?

WIZARD OF THE "MAGIC JUICE" OF GREAT INVENTIVE KIND, THOMAS LEISON IS HERE FOR EACH AND ALL TO FIND

Talent and Tact.

Talent is power, tact is the skill to use it. An engine can whirl a train with 20 cars over the continent at a mile a minute clip, but it could not do this without the motive power of steam—it would stand on the rails, an inert mass of steel and iron. The steam that makes the wheels revolve and causes it to rush through the lengths of space.

Comprehensive Blessing.

The father of a family being absent at dinner, the mother called on little five-year-old Ernest to say the blessing. Polding his hands and bending his head, he said: "Dear Lord, sometimes we have more and sometimes less, but we're very thankful."

MODERN DENTISTRY

It took the twentieth century to give us the air ships. It took men who were willing to spend some money and risk in the perfecting of the flying machines.

And the same is true in Dentistry. If all dentists were to follow the same ideas of our grandfathers there would be no advancement.

I am using in my dental office all 20th century equipment which permits of better and faster work and I do all work without pain.

And prices, too, are different from elsewhere. I'm in a position to save you one-third to one-half on the bill.

Call for a consultation at any time when you are down town.

HAVE BITTER FIGHT WITH AUTHORITIES

Mr. and Mrs. J. Goodsell Write From California for References to Give Santa Rosa Authorities.

Former Mayor Goodsell and several other persons have received letters from J. Goodsell and wife asking for letters of identification and good character that they might show to the authorities in Santa Rosa, California. Mr. and Mrs. Goodsell went to Santa Rosa several weeks ago expecting to bring back with them the six children of Mrs. Goodsell's deceased sister. It now appears that the Santa Rosa court authorities want to have the couple fully identified and shown that they are capable of earning for the children properly before they will give them the custody. The children are orphans and it is supposed by friends here that they have some property which the California authorities do not want to transfer until they can be sure of the character of the Goodsell. Mr. Goodsell is employed by the North-Western road and as far as can be learned both he and his wife are most estimable people.

FOR YOUR HEALTH'S SAKE

HOW TO KEEP SICKLY.
Never open the windows in your sleeping chamber. See that they are carefully closed at night and the room made as hot and stuffy as possible.

Keep out of the sunshine and be careful not to take long, deep breaths. Eat any kind of food, regardless of its nutritive value, and be as irregular as you can as to time of taking your meals. Also eat hurriedly. No use wasting time over a matter of this kind.

Wear an overcoat one day and go without the next. Change underwear from heavy to light during the winter months, and don't bathe oftener than once a month.

By following these few simple directions you will beset the doctor, and if persisted in long enough the undertaker will also have a chance to make a dollar.

JOLTSTARIFF BILL;
VOICE FROM IOWA

SENATOR CUMMINS DECLARES PEOPLE WILL NOT ACCEPT SUCH LAW.

PREDICTS PUBLIC CLAMOUR

Roar of the Nation's Millions Will Drown the Cry for Protection, He Says—Gets into Argument with Newlands.

Washington, May 7.—For the second time this week the voice of Iowa was heard in the senate yesterday against the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, Senator Cummings following his colleague, Mr.
Dolliver in an attack on the measure.

"The bill now before us, which, it may be assumed, presents the views of the financial committee respecting the revision of the tariff," said Senator Cummings, "will not be accepted by those who have favored a revision of the tariff as either a fulfillment of the party pledge or as a settlement of the controversy. If this bill, or anything substantially like it, becomes a law, I predict that a campaign for lower duties will begin the moment the extraordinary session of congress adjourns, and will continue with increasing zeal until the judgment entered in the court of the public conscience is also entered in the journals of congress.

Pleads for Real Revision.

"I have heard it said over and over since we began this discussion, not of course, in public debate, but in private conversation, that there are but few people comparatively who were interested in a reduction of duties. I know that the voices of those who are clamoring for an increase of custom house taxation are more distinctly heard in the corridors and committee rooms. There will come a time presently when the clamor of the millions who want relief will sound like the roar of a thousand Niagara from one ocean to the other. I have heard it said many times that those people who were insisting on tariff revision were not familiar with the subject, and had no opportunity to know whether duties were too high or too low. This distrust or skepticism of the judgment of the common man is a fundamental mistake often made and always atoned for in sackcloth and ashes."

Talks of Lumber and Steel.

Passing to a consideration of the lumber schedule, he said it made little difference whether there was a duty or not so far as the preservation of the forests were concerned. With respect to the cost of production, in the greater part of the United States at least, he said the American had the advantage of the Canadian, and a duty was only necessary to equalize a disparity in the rates of transportation.
Of the iron and steel industry, he said:

"Fortunately, we have a safer guide with respect to this business than we have in many other industries that we are required to investigate. We have one corporation whose output is substantially one-half of the whole. I am not one of those who believe that it is the office of the government to restrict the profits of capital invested in private business; nor am I one of those who believe it is the duty of the government to insure to capital any return whatsoever.

Newlands Asks Tart Question.

An amusing situation occurred at the close of Senator Cummings' speech when Senator Newlands asked whether or the faction striving for a revision of the tariff downward had formulated a plan with which the Democrats could unite in order to accomplish their purpose. The question gave evident satisfaction to Senator Aldrich, but apparently Senator Culberson, the minority leader, was not so well pleased.

It was pointed out by Senator Newlands that if the 20 progressive Republicans united with the 31 Democratic senators they would have a majority of the senate. Senator Cummings remarked that the senator from Nebraska had found more progressive Republicans than he had. In response to Senator Newlands' question, however, Senator Cummings asked:

"Is the senator from Nevada authorized to speak for the 31 Democrats, when he propounds such an inquiry?"

"No," said Senator Newlands, "because the 31 Democrats are powerless to accomplish anything here by taking the lead. The only way they could succeed in benefiting the country would be by following the lead of the progressive Republicans. I think it that Republican faction would get together on a program for a revision of the tariff downward, the Democrats would respond favorably to the proposal."

Milwaukee, May 7.—Count Johann Jelrich von Bernstorff, the German

He made an informal address, paying tribute to the qualities of good citizen-love for the Fatherland was entirely compatible with loyalty to the United States. Last evening the ambassador delivered an address at a dinner of the Citizens' Business League.

ILLINOISANS IN $7,000 FRAUD.

Hamburg Couple Charged with Getting Part of an Estate.

New York, May 7.—How a man and woman from Hamburg, Ill., are alleged to have fooled the supreme court and the state attorney general into paying them $7,000 in the belief they were half-brother and half-sister of John Edward Hughes, who died intestate in the Flatbush asylum, November, 1902, was revealed in motion papers submitted to Justice Searby in the supreme court.

Hughes left $26,000, and it was not known that he had a living relative.
The man and woman from Illinois turned up and demanded the estate.
They were in a fair way to get all of it when, after an investigation, James T. Williamson declared they were not related to Hughes and that relatives of Hughes live in Newark, N. J., and in Ireland.

Pays Miller's Bill and Will Not Go

New York, May 7.—Mrs. Harry Thaw today saved herself from going to the Tombs where her husband was confined so long before his trial for slaying Stanford White, by paying the judgment against her held by a milli-ner.

An order directing the sheriff to arrest her for contempt of court, in failing to pay a fine of $250 imposed last week, was signed in the city court yesterday afternoon, following the announcement that the appellate division had refused to stay the proceedings. The order directed that she be kept in close confinement until the settlement of her account.

Galesburg, Ill., May 7.—Canon Arthur W. Helton, aged 35 years, chaplain of St. Albans School for boys, committed suicide yesterday by drinking carbolic acid. He had been in poor health and was in constant fear of paralysis or insanity.

He awakened his wife saying he had taken poison and was anxious to die. Decedent was born in India and was educated in England. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by poison while temporarily insane.

Bishop Muldoon Visits Elgin.

Elgin, Ill., May 7.—Bishop Peter J. cession of about 500 people. To-morrow there will be a banquet, followed

Interstate Commerce Commission Grants New Hearing.

Washington, May 7.—Parents and school children throughout the country are interested in a hearing the interstate commerce commission gave yesterday on an application for the modification of a ruling of the commission whereby railroads which had sold "school commutation tickets," withdrew those tickets from sale.

The commission recently ruled informally that special rates could not be given to school children but that the rates given children attending school must be the same as those given to other children. It held that "the carrier may not inquire into the mission, errand or business of the passenger as a condition of fixing the transportation rate which such passenger shall pay."

INDIANA MAN AFTER KNOX.

Columbus Lawyer Attacks the Validity of Cabinet Job.

Washington, May 7.—To require Secretary of State Knox to show cause why he should not be removed from office on constitutional grounds is the object of a petition in quo warranto received here by Clerk John R.
Young of the District of Columbia supreme court from C. W. Caldwell, a Columbus, Ind., attorney.

The petition, which is designed to raise anew the former controversy as to Mr. Knox's eligibility to a cabinet office, set forth the action of congress in reference to the removal of the constitutional bar raised against Mr.
Knox when he was nominated. The petition was not in proper form and Clerk Young returned the papers to the Indiana attorney.

May's Russian Treaty Ratified.

Washington, May 7.—An agreement which was negotiated by the late John Hay, former secretary of state, in Deof corporations or stock companies was ratified and made public by the

LEADS SUPERSTITIOUS HOSTS IN STRANGE RITES.

Dombay, India.—There has just been held in the sacred city of Kumbhaksan, Madras, the great Mahanavami festival, which is celebrated every 12 years. It lasts 10 days. On the final day of the festival the superstitious millions of India rush to what is known as the Mahanavami tank, in which the nine holy rivers of the world are supposed to pour their waters, and all bathing in it feel assured of eternal salvation. In the illustration is shown the high priest as he is being carried by the faithful to the great tank.

The importance of the festival originated in a curious manner. According to the Puranas the god, Brahma, the creator, feared that everything might be destroyed by the great floods, and in order to ensure himself of the means of creation after destruction approached Shiva on this topic.
Shiva instructed Brahma to prepare an earth pot, using in the making of it nectar instead of water also to put humanam tank. The belief of the Hindoo, which has endured for many centuries, is that by bathing in the tank one can save himself all sins and obtain salvation in the future.

An idea of the number of people that attend this festival may be had from the fact that every hour crowded trains arrive at the place and that for many days beforehand, almost all the officials of the district camp here to minister to the convenience of the people.

Most of the people wait for bathing till the gods go in to give the sacred waters. This is done by taking a duty to the tank and getting its apla-sham, i. e., bathing it with milk, fruits and honey, and lastly oil and scent. Then the people bathe, crying, "Hark, Shiva and Ganges!" Then they drink the holy water compounded of milk, butter, cows' urine and other things from the cow, which is held highly sacred. Many Brahmins are fed by the Hindoo men, who generally fast. The women, on the other hand, before bathing offer to the holy mud Panga (goddess of the Ganges), the following: Sorrel, turmeric, red powder, flowers, nuts and betel leaves, gold and silver pieces, bundles of dark glass and other gifts.
The same are offered also to another goddess.

To sanction the bathing gods from the Shiva temples are taken to the Mahanavami tank and gods from the Vishnavite temples are taken to the tank. The gods are taken in a grand procession, and the religious fervor at that part of the festival is very great. All Gurus and heads of different religious orders go there to sanction their followers bathing in the "holy waters." During the night the gods are taken back to their respective temples, and the people crowd there to make offerings and get themselves absolutely pure from all sins and receive the blessings that great people are said to have obtained in the past.

A TRIAL FOR TWO JUDGES

MURPHY SAYS HE WILL FILE IMPEACHMENT CHARGES AGAINST JURISTS.

REPEATS CHARGES IN HOUSE

Declares He Will Attempt to Oust Phillips and McPherson from Federal Bench for Conduct in Missouri Railroad Rate Cases.

Washington, May 7.—Following a speech in the house yesterday in which he reported his charges against Judges McPherson and Phillips of the federal bench, Mr. Murphy of Missouri, declared he intends to file impeachment proceedings against the jurists.

Incessant over a telegram to Attorney General Wickardham by Frank Hagerman, attorney for 18 railroads, in which Mr. Hagerman characterized Mr. Murphy's resolution of inquiry into the official conduct of the two judges as "an outrageous abuse of misrepresentation," Mr. Murphy held the attention of the house with a repetition of the charges which he had made in his original resolution.

His colleague, Mr. Tucker, corroborated all that he said in denunciation of the action of the two judges in connection with Missouri's two-cent passenger rate law and the maximum freight law. Incidentally Mr. Tucker remarked that Judge Phillips ought to have been impeached 20 years ago.

Reads Hagerman's Telegram.

Mr. Murphy brought the matter up as a question of personal privilege.

Mr. Murphy had read some newspaper dispatches to the effect that Hagerman had telegraphed the attorney general of the United States alleging that the charges in the Murphy resolution were "an outrageous abuse of misrepresentation by one who had no knowledge of the facts." He said that he had confirmed the fact that such a telegram had been received by Attorney General Wickardham.

Clayton Objects to Argument.

Mr. Clayton of Alabama, a member of the judiciary committee, objected, saying that the argument was not one of personal privilege.

Speaker Cannon ruled that Mr. Murphy was within his rights and could continue, but he had not proceeded far when Mr. Henry of Texas, another member of the judiciary committee, stopped him with an inquiry as to whether he did not intend to formally bring in charges of impeachment.

The Missouri member, however, did not give a direct answer, but continued his recital of the charges contained in his resolution.

Continuing, Mr. Murphy denied that the state of Missouri had been accorded every courtesy in the rate cases, as was stated in Mr. Hagerman's telegram. The state, he declared, had no knowledge or notice whatever of the first injunction in those cases.

"I am asking the congress of the United States," he said, "to give back to us that government which you handed to us when you admitted us as a state in the union by requiring the federal judiciary in the western district of Missouri to proceed along orderly and decent lines in the execution of the law."

Both Judges Are Silent.

Kansas City, Mo., May 7.—Federal Judge McPherson yesterday afternoon continued the order restraining Circuit Attorney Jones of St. Louis from interfering in the Missouri rate litigation. The order does not affect other state officials.

Both Judge McPherson and Judge Phillips declined to discuss the announcement that Representative Murphy will ask their impeachment.

WOULD ARBITRATE FOR PEACE.

International Agreements Against War Urged at Dinner to Knox

Washington, May 7.—Advocates of international peace through arbitration met at the New Willard last night as guests of President James H. McCreary of Kentucky and the directors of the American Peace and Arbitration League. Secretary of State Knox was the guest of honor.

Among the speakers were ex-Senator McCreary, Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain, Minister Portela of the Argentina republic, Justice Brewer of the supreme court of the United States, Senator Taylor of Tennessee, Speaker Cannon, and Henry Claws of New York. The guests included many of the most prominent men in public life in the capital and members of the diplomatic corps. The object of the league is to "promote adequate permanent and effective arbitration as co-terminus agencies for national security and international peace and justice."

Bank Teller Is Indicted.

Niles, accused receiving teller of the First National bank of Minneapolis, was indicted yesterday afternoon by the Hennepin county grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the first degree. Niles is accused of having embezzled nearly $28,000 from the bank. Of this amount about nine thousand dollars has been returned.

"Because I object women on principle, and besides, my face would interfere with my literary work."
"What class of work?"
"I am writing love stories."

Jack—Yes, poor John may have had his faults, but his heart was on the right side.
John—Is it possible? No wonder he died.

IMPOSSIBLE.

"Tern, boy, your dog bit me on the neck!"
"Well, that's as high as he could reach. You don't expect a little pup like him to bite you in the neck, do you?"

THE BLUE WORM.

Wife—Think of it, dear, this pretty silk dress came from a poor, insignificant worm.
Hubby—That's a nice thing to call me!

AWAY OFF.

"What's wrong with it?"
"All wrong. Ravens don't have hair; they have feathers."

Mrs. Howard—"The walls of your apartment are very thin, aren't they?"
Mrs. Howard—"Oh, yes! We could actually hear our neighbors having coffee for dinner last night."

Charles—Yes, old Jones lost his leg in a railway accident; but he was always lucky.
George—Lucky? Where does it come in?
Charles—Why, don't you see, that was the leg which gave him so much trouble with rheumatism, and he got strong for it.

GIRL RISKS HER LIFE TO SAVE THAT OF A FELLOW EMPLOYEE, MARGUERITE LACEY.

Chicago, Ill.—The heroine of the hour in Chicago is 17-year-old Marguerite Lacey, who yesterday risked being lashed and pounded to death in powerful machinery to save the life of William Street, who had been caught in the whirling wheels and was being twisted and torn while a group of stupefied fellow workmen stood about afraid to attempt his release.

The accident occurred at the Columbus Shirt factory, 120 Market street. It was nearly noon when William Street, a man forty-five years old, reached over the giant shaft that turned two hundred large sewing machines. He had a stick in his hand and was "dressing" the belt. Suddenly his sleeve caught in the whirling wheels and the lack of the belt. Instantly Street was dragged to the floor, his arm and hand were crushed between the belt and the rim of the wheel. He screamed in agony, men rushed to him but stood by in terror while the victim's body and legs thrashed against the floor. His yells were frantic. His body was being wound about the shaft when suddenly a girl pushed the men aside and self-ed Street by the heels. With the strength of an athlete she wrapt her arms about the man's legs and dived him from the clutches of the grinding wheels. With almost simultaneous movement she seized a steel and threw the belt from the main shaft. While the man was screaming and fainting, and that's all there was to screaming with pain she held him out as comfortably as she could and then asked some one to telephone for a doctor and ambulance. Several men ran to obey her commands.

Those who saw the whole occurrence say that it was the most cool-headed display of nerve they have ever witnessed.

After her rescue had been completed the girl for the first time realized what she had done. She tried to be brave but couldn't help fainting dead away.

"You know, I don't think it was I that did it," said Miss Lacey. "I remember seeing the man struggling and screaming there on the floor. The next thing I knew I was fainting, and that's all there was to it. I don't deserve all credit, because I never once thought about there being any danger for me, and I just had to do it."

A position has been circulated among the fellow workers to be presented, through the proper channels, to the Carnegie Medal Commission, and it is hoped they will recognize the merit of this young girl's daring and give her the honor of a Carnegie medal.

How to Test a Newspaper Advertisement

Is it Sincere?

During the recent financial flurry the public did not look for relief either to the muck-rakers or the comedians.

It is always the sincere men in this world, who take things as they find them and do their very best, that succeed best as newspaper advertisers.

The best advertisement is one which unconsciously influences a purchaser to buy, honestly feeling that he or she has acted on his or her own judgment.

The advertisement with an earnest and sincere message burning through it—no matter how crudely the idea may be expressed—will command a respectful hearing.

Senator Ingalls crowded the galleries when he made a speech, but his influence in legislation was nothing to that wielded by Senator Allison, whose simple sincerity won the confidence of all.

Test the sincerity of your advertisement by laying it on someone's desk, with the simple request for frank criticism.

The first thing that is said by the person to whom you hand the advertisement will generally show what impression it creates of itself.

If comment is made on the appearance, the wording or the size, rather than the story you are telling, try again.

For immediate dollars-and-cents returns from newspaper advertising, plausibility can be placed before sincerity. Yet more plausibility in newspaper advertising, no matter how skillfully it has been utilized, has not built one genuine success.

But plausibility backed by sincerity finds in the newspaper unlimited possibilities of expression for the creative spirit of this age of industrial activity.

In newspaper advertising be particular to say just what you mean, and above all, mean what you say.

WIRELESS WITHOUT AERIAL.

Messages Now Received by Wireless Telegraph Without Use of Detonator in Air.

Members of Popular Electricity Wireless club will no doubt be interested in knowing how to receive messages without the use of an aerial. The diagram shows one method that may be employed. The parts of the system are as follows: (D) is the detector, (H) the battery, (TR) the telephone receiver, (C) the condenser. A tuning coil is connected between detector and ground.

Connect a wire from one binding post of the detector to the battery, and from there to the telephone receiver. From the telephone receiver connect to the other binding post of the detector. Now connect another wire from the condenser to the gas pipe in your cellar. It does not make any difference what kind of a detector you use. With this outfit you should be able to receive messages for a considerable distance.

ELECTRIC MEAT SAW.

Butchers Cut Meat by Use of Saw That is Propelled by Electricity.

A meat saw which is operated by a motor and which is easily adjusted to the work in hand is shown in the cut. The saw, which is partially inclosed in a protective housing, is suspended by cords and weights from two wheels which run on an overhead track. An other parallel track carries an electric motor from which depends a flexible shaft to turn the saw. The weights just about balance the saw and its housing so that the latter may be readily raised up out of the way when not in use.

Aluminum Solder.

One of the things inventors have been working on for a long time is to obtain an effective solder for joining aluminum. Lack of such a solder has been one of the drawbacks in the more extensive use of aluminum in electrical work.

A new compound for this purpose has been patented. It consists of 68 parts of tin, 29 parts of zinc, two parts of antimony and one part of phosphorus, by weight. These different component parts are first thoroughly heated, separately to a liquid form, then thoroughly mixed and allowed to cool off and then used in the form of what is commonly known as bar solder.

Removing Tools from a Barrel.

While reaming out a hole in a barrel the reamer slipped through on the inside. Several methods were applied to extract the reamer from the barrel, with failure. At last a simple device, and one easily prepared, was used with success. The device consisted of a 5-inch gaspipe of the proper length and a piece of steel wire. The wire was bent in the middle and inserted through the gaspipe. The ends of the wire were bent in the shape shown, and by moving the wire up and down through the pipe the jaws of the wire will open and close.

JUDGES IN THE PRIZE MUSICAL COMPETITION UNDER THE DIRECTION OF THE NATIONAL FEDERATION OF MUSICAL CLUBS.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—As the opening day of the convention of the National Federation of Musical Clubs approaches, much interest centers in the prize competitions, which are being conducted this year for the first time under the auspices of the federation. There are three classes of compositions open to the musical writers who are of American birth. They include: Class 1.—Orchestral composition, prize $1,000. Class 2.—Vocal solo composition, prize $500. Class 3.—Piano solo composition, prize $500.

The object of the competition is to develop and foster American music. Each class has three judges prominent among the national figures in American music. These include Walter Damrosch, chairman of the committee of judges, Class 1; W. H. Sherwood of Chicago, chairman of the committee of judges, Class 2, and such prominent men as David Hepburn, C. M. Loebler and H. E. Kreibitz.

Mrs. Jason Walker of the Beethoven club of Memphis, Tenn., is chairman of the committee in charge of the competition. Many noted composers have entered this largely in the spirit of developing American music.

The two most potent forces which are the basis of national art are wanting in America—the state church, and a peasant class of people.

In European countries where nationalism is so strongly marked in music, the church yielding enormous influence, and in fact directed all lines of national development.

The peasants, held down, oppressed and burdened by centuries of subjugation to the tyrannical rule of monarchs, kings, emperors, found in their songs the only outlet for suppressed feelings of despair, and hope, rebellion and sorrow, and also, at times, for their lighter and happier moods. These songs, which are so interwoven into the life of European and Oriental music, give it the national coloring and make it possible to at once recognize and place the music of different countries. The conclusion might be drawn that freedom of thought and life—which can only become the right of the individual in such a country as America—may not be conducive to nationalism in art.

Is there as yet a real American music from the national standpoint? The Indian music, which has been gathered by the greatest effort, can never be considered the outpouring of the soul of a civilized being. It can be arranged, simplified and embellished, but it does not appeal as an expression of thought and feeling common to all. The negro is a transplanted element in our social life, and can never commingle as do other races, and his melodies were born in Africa.

The remarkable ease with which the American appropriates everything that is best to his own use and pleasure, has given him splendid opportunities for musical education, the latter part of the past century.

The founding of music schools, establishment of orchestras, the concertizing tours, and the seasons of grand opera, the opportunities for coming in contact with the musical life of other countries, which has been made possible by modern transportation, have all tended to make Americans the best informed and most critical people on the face of the earth. Still, as a nation, will there ever be an American Beethoven, Chopin, or Grieg?

American music must be an evolution and the process is intensely interesting. In order to keep in touch with this development and also to render the assistance that a large national organization can give, the National Federation of Musical Clubs two years ago decided to open an American music department and offer prizes to American born composers for the best compositions in three classes, orchestra, vocal and piano. The results of this contest are to be brought out at the biennial meeting here May 24-29. This will be an occasion of great interest and importance and the results attained will influence the federation in its decision as to whether or not this work shall continue.

The inauguration of any great work and the first results are seldom perfectly satisfactory. The plans and methods often need revising under the light of experience, and it always takes time to get a movement thoroughly understood. The contest has awakened great interest in the musical world and the great federation, which stands sponsor for it, has given it a dignity and importance that is unquestioned.

ECZEMA
DON'T CLOSE THE PORES OF THE SKIN AND DRIVE IT IN.

Persons afflicted with Eczema, Scrofula, Psoriasis, Ulcers, Pimples, etc., frequently have recourse to strong astringent external remedies to dry up and close the pores of the skin in order to get temporary relief, forgetting in their anxiety, that by so doing they are forcing the poisonous germs back into the blood to reassert itself, a month later, in the old disease area, or on some other part of the body. It is a more intelligent form of cure, better to help the blood (throw off the impurities which cause these diseases, and get permanent relief. Blood is the most important constituent of the human body, and when impure is the underlying cause of most of our ailments, particularly skin diseases. Dr. Taylor's treatment aims to purify the blood as well as treat the skin. Guaranteed to cure. Send to our office, 1330 Arch St., Philadelphia, for booklet. TO ENACT REFORMS

IN FOOD RULINGS

LEGISLATURE HAS LARGE LIST OF ARTICLES TO WATCH.

MANY PRODUCTS NAMED

What Will Be Required As a Standard of Quality Will Be Clearly Defined.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., May 7.—Like in many other reforms of national importance, Wisconsin promises to distinguish herself at this session of the legislature by the enactment of the most complete pure food law that has ever been passed by a state legislature.

In recent years it has been the legislative custom to enact a law prescribing as the standard for the purity of foods, the same standard as was being enforced by the national legislature. As this law standard was being enforced by the national legislature, it was difficult to determine the actual standard in force.

For this reason and to overcome any such obstacles in the future, Assemblyman Kull introduced a bill early in the session fixing a complete standard of all food products.
Following a general exposure of the methods of adulteration used by manufacturers yesterday, the assembly ordered the bill engrossed without a dissenting vote.

The measure will come up for final passage in the house, next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Nearly two hundred different standards are prescribed in the bill. The new standards are first food, such as, sausage, mince meats, beef extracts, lard, and cold storage goods, with provisions prohibiting the use of deleterious substances.

Under the bill milk cannot test lower than three per cent milk fat; condensed milk must contain not less than 28 per cent of milk solids; cream shall not contain less than 18 per cent of milk fat; butter $2.5 per cent milk fat; cheese 50 per cent milk fat, and ice cream 14 per cent milk fat.

There are further provisions on the subject of ice cream expelling what substances may be combined in its manufacture. Then the bill fixes the purity of wheat flour, granular corn meal, rice, oatmeal, and rye flour.
The main provision is to limit the amount of moisture the flour shall contain.

Several sections of the bill are devoted to the purity of dried fruit products and then the important sections to prevent adulterations in syrups, honey, preserves, jam, marmalade, fruit butter, and jellies are added.
The features of these sections describe what these products shall contain and makes the adding of other deleterious substances an adulteration.

The provisions regarding sorghum, sugar, maple syrup, molasses are still more stringent in every instance limiting the amount of water to less than 30 per cent of water. Even candy does not escape and the chocolate drop can only contain certain ingredients.

Other provisions relate to horse radish, mustard, nutmeg, pepper, and pumpkin are devoted to flavoring extracts. Ciders and vinegars are brought within the provisions of the act. The feature of the bill is that it states the composition of certain articles and the introduction of certain substances would be an adulteration within the meaning of the pure food law.

The measure affects almost every article of food on the market and if enacted into law and enforced, will ensure the highest standard of purity possible.

While this is the main pure food measure in the house there are a number of others that go hand in hand with the provisions of the bill. Last Thursday the committee on dairy and food products reported for passage a bill fixing the standards of milk and dairy products.

Much along the same line is the bill of Assemblyman Crowell, which provides for pure white lead and zinc.
As these are the principal constituents in most of the other colored paints this will probably pass with a provision fixing the standard of purity for turpentine and linseed oil.

Two important resolutions have been prepared by Assemblyman Cleary to expedite the business of the legislature, both of which were presented to the legislature today. The first resolution provides that no bill will be received as committee measure after this week.

During the past few weeks scores of new bills have been introduced through the committee route and to prevent this source of additional work and delay the resolution aims to cut this privilege off after this week.

The other resolution is to remain in continuous session, excepting Sundays, until the final adjournment of the legislature. This resolution may meet considerable opposition as there are a number of members who wish to return home on Friday and not return until the following Tuesday.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Milton, May 7.—About eight of the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs.
G. E. Osborn enjoyed a very pleasant party at their new home Monday evening. It was Mrs. Osborn's birthday and also the 16th anniversary of their wedding day. Dr. Hattie in a few apt and well chosen words presented them with a beautiful willow rock-ing chair as a memento of the occasion. Rev. E. D. Jackson offered prayer. "Bless be the tie that binds" and "There is a land that is fairer than this" were sung. The guests departed wishing them many happy returns of the day.

DESIRE NEW DEPOT

Petition Being Circulated By Citizens To Railroad Officials For New Station.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Evansville, May 6.—Evansville hopes to have a new and modern depot in the near future and at present are making a strenuous effort to bring about this much needed improvement. A petition addressed to the officials of the Chicago and North-Western road is being circulated and has already been signed by all our businessmen and prominent citizens besides a number of heavy stock shippers who reside in the suburbs. The main object in asking for a new building is that the old one is doing duty as a depot for far too small and altogether inadequate to accommodate the passenger traffic or for its employees to transact the large business interests which the road has here with any degree of convenience.
The remittance to the company from this station averages from eight to ten thousand dollars each month. It is said that during the month of March one thousand tickets were sold from this point to Janesville alone. A short time ago this city was honored by a visit from a number of the road's officials, including H. C. Cheyney, assistant general freight agent of Chicago, J. P. O'Brien, superintendent; G. B. Vilas, assistant superintendent; both of Harbison D. D. Callen, general freight agent; E. J. Allen, district agent; George Bonnell, industrial agent, all of Chicago, and A. L. Fisher, traveling agent, Madison. We are told the officials were very favorably impressed with the apparent business prosperity of our city and appeared to be fully convinced that we were greatly in need of a more commodious depot. Evansville is famed for its general beauty, its many "pretty homes with well kept yards and beautiful shade trees and the stranger who visits our city notes a marked contrast between the building which stands at the entrance of the only railroad gateway that the city has and the business and residential part of the town. While the depot is well cared for and made as comfortable as possible, Evansville needs something better, and the large amount of business done here indicates the extreme necessity of better accommodations.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pullen went to Monroe yesterday to be present at the wedding of Miss Twining and Mr.
Staver. Mr. and Mrs. Pullen returned in their auto this morning, accompanied by the bride couple who left on the noon train for Lake Mills, where they have a cottage and will spend a part of their honeymoon.

Rev. D. Q. Grubb will deliver the baccalaureate sermon in the graduating class of the high school in the Congregational church Sunday, evening, May 30. Church exercises will take place the following Wednesday and Thursday evenings and commencement on Friday evening at which time the Rev. Robert Denison of Janesville will give the address.
Contrary to custom the class will not give their reactions in public this year, but will deliver them before the student body of the high school, two being given each morning.

Mrs. Clyde Courter, Mrs. W. R.
Patterson and Mrs. Raymond Pur-ton were visitors in Janesville yesterday.

Miss Bishop, who for the past winter has been conducting a traveling penny picture gallery in connection with E. D. Love of Sycamore, Ill., returned to Evansville yesterday.

Mrs. Dan Knouse is expected home today from a visit of several weeks with relatives in Perryburg, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ellis, Mrs. Mary Jordan and daughter, Deulah, went to Dayton yesterday to attend the funeral of Joseph Jackson, who is a brother-in-law of Mr. Ellis.

Orin Handy of Canada is visiting her uncle, A. Baldwin.

Mrs. George Butts and daughter, Nellie, and Mrs. Helen Winston of Janesville and Mrs. Hitchcock of Nebraska are spending a few days with Mrs. Nelson Winston and other relatives.

Dwight Reed spent Wednesday afternoon in Madison.

Mr. and Mrs. Alie Fellows welcomed a little son at their home last evening.

Mrs. Geo. Wolfe, Jr., Mrs. Willis Griffith, Mrs. Clyde Courter and Mrs.
Arthur Devine went to Belleville Tuesday to spend the day with Mrs.
Eather Thurman, who for sometime past has been clerking in a store in Chicago, but is now ill at the home of her mother.

Mrs. William Douglas has gone to Payette to attend the wedding of her cousin, Miss Bertha Heston.

Miss Laura Kessler returned to Hillsborough yesterday after a week's visit to local relatives.

The editor, so it turned out afterwards, had hunted around in the night till he found a collar window unlocked.
Then he'd crawled in and thumped up to the kitchen.

I went upstairs again and routed out the Heavenlies. I wanted 'em to see the show. We stood in the door and looked at it. Just then Eureka came along.

"My soul and body!" she sings out.
Her dad heard her and woke up.
First he just opened his eyes and stretched. Then he sat up straight and turned round. He turned pale.

"Well, pal!" says Eureka, sharp.
"What sort of doings is this? What do you mean?"

Sparrow stared at her; then at us.
He started to speak. Then he happened to notice my fist; and he never said a word.

"The idea!" says Eureka. "After all I've done to cure you. Roasting in this hot kitchen and eating—is that apple-pie crust by your hand?"

She stepped across and opened the pantry door.

"My uncles alive!" she says. "I saw to man if he didn't ate everything in the buttery!"

"I—I—!" stammers Wasby, wild like.
"—I didn't mean to but I was starved and—half drowned."

"No!" says Eureka. "Well, I never!
Now we're in a nice mess; and all to do over again."

"I'm all right now, anyway," says Wasby. "I ain't coughing none and the grub don't distress me a mite. Not half so much as that cursed blue milk."

"All to do over," says Eureka. "And I don't know as we'll ever cure you now. Get out door this minute. And you mustn't eat a thing, not even milk, for three or four days. Open that outside door, please, Mr. Pratt."

I opened the door. The rain came heaving in, with the wind back of it.
It hit Wasby like a cold wave.

"I'm all right, I tell you!" he yelled.
"I feel fine. Better'n ever I was, don't knows I ain't."

"Are you sure, pa?"

"Sure? Course I'm sure. Don't I know? I'm all cured!"

"Well, that's a mercy," Eureka says.
"I knew 'twas the right recipe, but I didn't think they'd work so quick.
Mr. Van Brunt, pa's cured. He'll take that job at the hotel this very day; just as soon as it clears up a little."

The Heavenlies shouted and so did I. The cured man looked tolerably uneasy. He choked up and began to sputter.

"Course you mustn't go if you ain't real well and cured for good, pa," says his daughter. "Maybe you'd better try the toothache and the milk a spell longer."

The door was still open. And the wind and rain was driving in. Wasby swallowed, and answered slow:

"I'll go," he says. "I'll go to work sort of easy first along, so's—"

"Oh, no! you must work real hard, so's to get the exercise, or you'll have to relapse. Mr. Pratt, you'll tell Mr.
Brown to see that pa works the way he'd ought to, won't you?"

I nodded. "He'll work," says I, dodged.

At ten o'clock 'twas clear and I fowed the ex-consumptive dyspeptic over to the main and led him up to the hotel. I give him some advice as I went along.

That afternoon the Twins did nothing but tell Eureka that she was a wonder.

"Yes," says she, "I can't let he's cured, at least for a spell. Anyhow, that 'Everybody works, but father song don't fit our family no more."

CHAPTER XVI.

The Natural Life.

Wasby Sparrow's going to work was the biggest surprise Wellmouth had had since old man Glim, owner of the Palace Billiard, Pool and Billie parlors, got converted and joined the Good Templars. Nobody would believe it, of course, without seeing him do it with their own eyes, and there was so many folks round the hotel that Peter Brown said he was thinking of charging admission.

Today and Yesterday.

Changes in What We Wear and What We Eat.

The steamship replaced the sailing vessel, the electric light succeeded the oil lamp, and we have no need, nor desire to "trade back." Our health is just as good and we can crowd that much more work and play into the day of twenty-four hours.

To-day we changed from Corn bread and wheat flour share honors with dainty yet substantial "prepared foods." People now realize the necessity of stomach care. They eat more fruit and green stuffs and cereals and the health is better for it.

The old fashioned breakfast of "beef-steak, potatoes and bread" or "bacon and eggs and muffins" are replaced by P-K Corn Flakes or Egg-O-Soo Wheat Flakes and fruit, and our health is better for it. All the nourishment of the grain is retained in the crisp flakes, and it's no task for the stomach.

Children grow fat on it, invalids gain strength on it and man can do a better day's work on it than to load his stomach with meats and heavy foods.
Remember always it's the "Egg-O-Soo" brands that are "made right." Watch for the E-C Mark on the package.

ing of charging admission. "Agnes Pargo heard the news and came posting over to find out what sort of crazing her pet invalid had had to bear. Van Brunt done the explaining; it was right in his line.

"It was the invigorating atmosphere of Ozone Island that did it, Agnes," he said. "When we have finished ruralizing here I'm considering turning the place into a sanitarium. One week of Pratt's chowder and Eureka's corn muffins, coupled with the bay breezes and the odor of clam flats and seaweed, would make an Egyptian mummy turn flip-flop. I have to lay my violent hands on myself every day, or I, too, would be seized with the laboring fever."

She looked at him, kind of odd.
"That is most alarming news," says she, "if true. I confess I hadn't noticed the symptoms. Your temperature appears to be normal at present."

"It is," he says. "I flatter myself that I am making a magnificent fight against the disease. My most rabid attacks are in the early morning, before I get out of bed. Then I feel the insane desire for work, hard work, crouching over me. But I am firm. I reason thus: 'The governor is sixty odd and his heart is weak. Think of the shock that the news would be to him? Think—' and so forth. So I resolve to keep up the fight. By the time I am dressed and have had breakfast all yearning for work has left me.
Don't you think I deserve credit?"

She said he did. Only he must be careful and not get up and work in his sleep. I listened with my mouth open as usual. Such crazy drivels from grown up men and women was too many for me. It wasn't intended to be funny, of course, because they never smiled. It beat me altogether, and Eureka said the same. "Twice her notion that all the lunatics that was crowded out of the asylums, or was too rich to be put into 'em, was sent to New York. It sounded reasonable enough to believe, sometimes."

Agnes saw Sparrow, of course, but Brown was by when she saw him and Wasby didn't dare say but he'd gone to work of his own accord. I callate he'd figured that the gang of us would have killed him if he had. So the Page girl went back to Eastwick satisfied. And Eureka went home again nights and kept house for Ly-cours and her dad. But Hartley looked out that the most of the old man's ten dollars a week was turned over to her.

The Heavenlies' quiet Naturalness had pretty high disappeared altogether now. They were restless all the time, Mall was heavy and the telegram envelopes in the coal hod and around was thicker than ever. And Scudder came to Ozone three times a day.

By September 1, I thought sure they'd be ready to quit and go home. They needed to me as though they were tired of the whole thing. I thought I'd sound 'em, so I says:

"I s'pose likely you'll be for shutting up this shop and getting back to the city 'most any day pretty soon now, won't you?"

Van Brunt looked at his chum and Hartley looked at him. Then they caught themselves doing it, and looked away quick.
